

The four motive-based profiles describe the roles of business campus users during their working day. One might be a Navigator in the morning and a Pillar in the afternoon. The proportion and size of the profiles will change over time, depending on different trends.